

Norwegians

Worldwide

by Nordmanns-Forbundet

2015
no. 4

History preserved

Anders Beer Wilse

Opinions

Two Citizenships
- One Life

Norwegian Diplomats

Minnesota

RED CROSS
- 150 Years of helping

TRAVEL: CHRISTMAS MARKETS

FILM: THE CHRISTMAS KING

RØROS

The Christmas market at Røros is held the first weekend of December every year. Because the city, which was added to Unesco's World Heritage list in 1980, is preserved so well, walking through the streets here is almost like traveling back in time. The weather is almost always cold, which pretty much guarantees snow, and the Christmas-card-feeling is complete.

Go to www.julemarkedroros.no for more information.

Getting Around, Kanefart Style: "Kanefart," also known as horse sleigh, is a popular way to get around at Røros, and requires special care while dressing for the cold conditions. In Røros they now also have reindeer-sleigh rides, with Rudolph leading the pack. Photo: Visit Norway

Ice Dance: Local kids at the Christmas market perform outdoors around the Christmas tree. Photo: Svein Eggan, Destinasjon Røros

Keep Warm: Stay cozy with a warm beverage from one of the many stalls in the streets during the Christmas market at Røros. Photo: Destinasjon Røros